ANGLO-GERMAN AGREEMENT

Historic Declaration Never To Go To War With One Another Again

Mr. Chamberlain Has Long Talk With Herr Hitler

AN HISTORIC DECLARATION NEVER TO GO TO WAR WITH ONE ANOTHER AGAIN was signed by the British Prime Minister, Mr. Neville Chamberlain, and the German Chancellor, Herr Adolf Hitler.

Receiving the British press, the Prime Minister said, "I always had in mind that if we could find a peaceful solution to the problem in Czechoslovakia we should open the way to general appeasement of Europe."

"After a further meeting with Herr Hitler we agreed to recognise that the question of Anglo-German relations was of first importance to the two countries and to Europe."

"We regard the agreement signed last night and the Anglo-German Naval Agreement as symbolic of the desire of our two peoples never to go to war with one another again."

"We agreed that the method of consulting shall be the method adopted to deal with any other question concerning the two countries and are determined to continue our efforts to remove possible sources of difference, and thus contribute to the assurance of the peace of Europe."

In the course of general conversation following the reading of the declaration, Mr. Chamberlain said that he talked with Herr Hitler alone from 11.30 a.m. to 1 p.m. Reuter.

MUNICH PLAN ACCEPTED BY PRAGUE

NO ALTERNATIVE

London, Sept. 30. It is officially stated that the Czech Government accepted the Munich plan.

The Czech Government "after considering the decisions taken without and against them" had no alternative but to accept them.—Reuter.

UTTER AMAZEMENT

London, Sept. 30. It was officially stated in Prague this morning that Czechoslovakia received through Mr. B. C. Newton, British Minister, a message from Mr. Chamberlain saying that he expects Czechoslovakia to reply to the decisions of the Munich conference by noon to-day.

The statement adds: "The Czechoslovak Government expressed to Mr. Newton its utter amazement at being given such short time to consider a matter of such historic importance and such crushing responsibility."—Reuter.

A NEW ERA

Berlin, Sept. 30. Field-Marshal Hermann Goering declared to-day that the Munich agreement marks a new era in Franco-German relations. The fact that M. Daladier was present at the talks should realise the peaceful intentions of Germany.—Reuter Bulletin.

NO FRENCH COMMENT

Paris, Sept. 30. The Munich agreement came too late for general comment in the French press this morning. Many French commentators believe that the four-Power talks may also lead to a settlement of the non-intervention question in Spain.—Reuter Bulletin.

Tong Shao-yi Brutally Murdered

EX-OFFICIAL HACKED WITH AXE

Shanghai, Sept. 30. Mr. Tong Shao-yi, first Prime Minister of the Republic of China, was this morning brutally murdered by four men who forced their way into the home of his son-in-law, Mr. Chu Chang-nien.

The veteran Kuomintang statesman was hacked about the head with an axe.

The affair occurred at nine o'clock this morning at the French Concession home of Mr. Chu, who was Superintendent of the Shanghai Customs until its occupation by the Japanese.

Seventy-eight years of age, the late Mr. Tong Shao-yi, whose courtesy name was Shao-chuen, had a distinguished career. Born in the Heungshan (now Chungshan) District of Kwangtung, he was among the first batch of Chinese students to be sent to the United States by the Manchu Government for their higher education. He remained in America for seven years and attended Columbia and New York Universities, but returned to China before actually graduating.

Upon his return to Peking, he held a number of important posts.

"Beer Bottle" Bomb Thrown In Cabaret

STRANGE SHAI INCIDENT

Shanghai, Sept. 30. A strange bombing incident occurred this evening when a "beer bottle" bomb was hurled into the Frisco Cabaret, situated in the well-known "Blood Alley" in the French Concession.

What possible reason the terrorists might have had for throwing the bomb into the cabaret, which is frequented almost exclusively by foreign sailors and soldiers, cannot be ascertained.

The establishment was closed at once and the bomb was found. The only casualty was a waiter who was slightly wounded. Reuter.

CHINESE FORCES HAVE YANGTZE SITUATION WELL IN HAND

GEOGRAPHICAL ADVANTAGES EMPHASISED

North Yangtze Front, September 30. ASSURANCES THAT THE CHINESE FORCES have the situation along the north bank of the Yangtze, as well as on the south Hwang front, well in hand were given by a high Chinese commander at his field headquarters here in an exclusive interview with the Daily News this morning.

The commander emphasised the geographical advantages the Chinese forces, continuing to command the Yangtze, and the ever increasing difficulties the enemy (Japanese) encountered.

The Japanese army on both banks of the Yangtze, the commander said, is a tired army, having travelled long distances and been rushed from one field of operation to another. Against this tired and exhausted force, which has been demoralised by numerous reverses, is pitted the Chinese army with all the geographical advantages on its side.

The commander estimated the total Japanese strength on the north Yangtze front at about 100,000 men, numbering more than 100,000 men. He emphasised that the Japanese forces were in a very difficult position, and that the Chinese forces were in a very strong position.

The Japanese forces, he continued, are in a very difficult position, and that the Chinese forces are in a very strong position. The Japanese forces are in a very difficult position, and that the Chinese forces are in a very strong position.

IMPORTANT ASPECT OF FATHER JACQUINOT'S REFUGEE RELIEF WORK

Helping Displaced In War Humanitarian Plans For Peace

By Alec Greaves

"We must prepare for peace-war is always an abnormal period." These words, uttered by Father Jacquinot, throw light upon one of the most important aspects of his refugee relief work in Shanghai.

This great humanitarian, who has earned the admiration of the world, the gratitude of the Chinese and even the respect of the Japanese for his work in connection with the Nantao safety zone for refugees in Shanghai, where since last November more than 250,000 people from the war-ravished areas around have been afforded succour and protection, told me yesterday that he is confident that Shanghai will regain its place as a vital commercial, industrial and cultural centre.

He believes that the future of China is closely linked with Shanghai, and that it is necessary that work of rehabilitation should proceed despite present conditions.

"Though feeding, housing and Red Cross work form a large part of the refugee problem," he said, "we cannot forget that we must encourage and help in every way possible the large number of workers and skilled labourers who have come under our care and to prepare them to go back to their jobs as soon as peace comes."

At the present time, the Jacquinot Zone, as the Nantao centre has become to be known, still affords relief to between 30,000 and 40,000 people. Father Jacquinot and his collaborators have been successful in repatriating a certain number to their native districts and in finding work for others in Shanghai itself.

"I am glad to say that the Chinese in Shanghai are coming forward to help in this work," said Father Jacquinot.

FATAL BRAWL ON SHIP

Lascar Fireman Sentenced

Shanghai, Sept. 30. A 40-year-old Lascar fireman, Asat Khan, was sentenced this afternoon to five years' hard labour by the Judge of the British Supreme Court when he was convicted of the manslaughter of Andrew Steven Ford, 55, seaman on the British tramp steamer Salva on August 13. The jury deliberated for 45 minutes.

The accused was tried on a charge of murder by hitting Ford on the head with an iron pipe during a drunken brawl in the ship's forecastle while in port here.

The defence was insufficient identification and that the accused was drunk and subject to epilepsy.—Reuter.

Tragedy In Broadway Mansions

GIRL FOUND MURDERED

Shanghai, Sept. 30. A tragic sight awaited Capt. H. M. Smyth, Assistant Commissioner of the Shanghai Municipal Police, this evening when he returned to his flat in Broadway Mansions. The body of a young girl, by name Margaret Wexler, was lying in a chair, the girl having been murdered.

It is understood that Miss Wexler and Capt. Smyth were to have tea together.

Earlier this evening, Captain Smyth telephoned to his flat to tell Miss Wexler, with whom he had made an appointment, that he would be a little late. He was unable to obtain a reply to the telephone call.

On arriving at his flat at 7.15 p.m. later, Captain Smyth was unable to gain admission to his flat, and he called at the police station.

It is understood that Miss Wexler was soon to make her departure on a visit to England.—Reuter.

PUBLIC EXCLUDED FROM MURDER HEARING

Magistrate Gives Reasons For Decision

UNEMPLOYED GREASER CHARGED

Mr. R. Edwards at the Central Court yesterday gave his reasons for excluding the public from being present at the preliminary hearing of the case in which Li Man, alias Li Wai-man, 43, unemployed greaser, is charged with the murder of a man, Pun Shing, at the Luen Hing Seamen's boarding house on August 4.

The hearing will commence on October 4.

Addressing the Court, Mr. Edwards said, in part:

When the accused appeared before me on remand last Friday, I announced as I fixed the dates for taking the preliminary examination, or, as it often called, the "committal proceedings," in this case, that I should not permit members of the public to be present though I did not propose to exclude representatives of the Press. I made the announcement then in order to save members of the public (of whom there were a great many in Court) the trouble of coming to this Magistrate's court in the afternoon only to be turned away.

My decision on this point is made in the exercise of my discretion under Section 74 of the Magistrate Ordinance 1932.

Whether or how this discretion should be exercised is a matter for the magistrate to consider separately in each case.

Here I have exercised my discretion in the interests of the accused, who is unrepresented, knowing simply that he is charged with murder having previously been charged with wounding with intent to cause grievous bodily harm and that 17 witnesses are to be called by the prosecution making it necessary to allot three afternoons for their examination.

It appears that this is a case which is likely to achieve a substantial measure of publicity and I consider it to be in the interests of justice, in fairness to the accused, that if he is committed for trial, his jurors shall not be acquainted with any prejudicial details of the case before they begin to hear the evidence at the Supreme Court.

POSSIBLE DANGER

It would be improper for me to cite instances whether in this Colony or in England, but the not infrequent cases at Criminal Sessions or Assizes where it is necessary to warn the jury to give verdict solely upon the evidence, which they have heard or read about the case before they came into Court, indicate sufficiently the possible danger to the accused if his future jurors are able to attend the preliminary examination before the magistrate or to read reports giving, heard details or by heavy-type headlines emphasising certain aspects of the evidence in a manner bound consciously or unconsciously to affect the jurors' mind. It may happen, and has happened, that prejudicial evidence is admitted at the preliminary examination and by wide publicity becomes known probably to every juror, but it not actually tendered as evidence at the trial.

I know of only one argument in favour of admitting the public to preliminary examinations. It is that valuable witnesses, particularly for the defence, may come forward to give evidence at the trial as a result of the publicity accorded. This is an important consideration and none the less important because such cases are likely to be rare. I have considered it carefully.

PRESS CO-OPERATION

I now come to my reason for allowing in this case the presence of Press representation though the public are excluded. The disadvantage to the accused of committal proceedings in open court is twofold. First, that a future juror may be actually present at the preliminary examination or receive verbal accounts from persons who have—this danger is entirely eliminated by my decision, as the staff of daily newspapers are by the Jury Ordinance 1887 exempted from jury service.

Second, that a future juror may read a newspaper report of two preliminary proceedings which is likely to prejudice his mind. As to this, I have been encouraged, by the manner in which the Press of this Colony have responded to requests made from the Bench in special cases not to publish certain evidence, to believe that they will readily understand the subject which I have in view and that with their co-operation a plain and short report giving the names of witnesses and a bare outline of the evidence may be given which would be unlikely to prejudice the mind of any future juror and, at the same time, would largely meet the objection that a possible witness might fail to come forward through ignorance that the accused was on trial.

My decision in this case is unusual, but it is not unprecedented. It has long been the law that magistrates have an absolute discretion as to the admission of the public to committal proceedings. In fact in 1811 it was held lawful to publish reports of the proceedings at all.

POWER REMAINS

The discretionary power to exclude remains, and I have seen reports of two instances in England this year where benches of justice decided to use it. In one case public and Press were excluded, but in the other the Press were allowed to remain and published a discreet account of two preliminary examinations excluding details which might well have prejudiced the mind of any juror reading it. I see no reason why with the co-operation of the Press the second procedure should not be successfully applied here.

If the accused is committed for trial, all the admissible evidence given at the preliminary examination will become public at the trial. If not, I, for my part, shall have no objection to the publication of the fullest detailed report after my decision not to commit.

ALIENS FINED

Appearing before Mr. R. Edwards at the Central Court yesterday, Anna Iaulovna Belousova, 43, widow, Russian subject, was fined $50 for entering the Colony without a valid passport. An expulsion order was also made.

James Lee Bledsoe, 24, student and Frank Lott Higgs, 30, geologist, both Americans, were each fined $5 for failing to register with the police within 48 hours of their arrival in the Colony.

TRAFFIC CHARGES

Pleading guilty to a charge of leaving his car unattended near the exits of the Alhambra Theatre, between 7.50 p.m. and 9.25 p.m., on August 14, Aircraftman Bowles, of the R.A.F., Kai Tak, was fined $5 by Mr. Q. A. A. Macfadyen at the Kowloon Court yesterday.

Pleading not guilty to driving a military ambulance without due care and caution, in Nathan Road on August 28, Driver Stubbs was ordered to appear before Mr. Macfadyen on October 13, at 2.30 p.m., when his defence will be heard.

NEW SET OF EMERGENCY REGULATIONS

To Be Gazetted By Government

A new set of emergency regulations, to govern occasions of emergency or public danger, will be issued by the Government in a special Gazette today.

These will include, it was learned from an authoritative source yesterday, several of the 1922 regulations which were in effect during the time of the general strike in Hongkong.

Several amendments have been made, one important addition governing the control of ships of belligerent nations in the port of Hongkong.

Based on the Hague Convention, it is understood that this particular regulation is aimed, in particular, at Chinese and Japanese shipping in the event of the present conflict in China developing into a declared war.

It is believed that, under certain circumstances, such ships will be interned, while in other cases, the broad lines of the Hague Convention may be applied. This permits ships of belligerent nations to clear port if the vessels have sufficient fuel for such ships, however being allowed to coal in the neutral port.

CATHOLIC NEWS AND NOTES

THE HOLY ROSARY

The Rosary Church in Kowloon celebrates its feast to-morrow, for the day is celebrated throughout the whole Catholic Church as the Feast of the Holy Rosary. To put it more correctly, it is one of the feasts of the Blessed Virgin Mary, namely Our Lady of the Rosary—or, as we might put it, the day on which is specially honoured the one who is addressed in the prayer of the Rosary.

This prayer has been one of the most popular in the Church for centuries, the reason being that it is a simple one, which all can recite; and one that brings to mind the chief events in the life of Christ.

The dedication of churches to Our Lady of the Rosary seems to have originally begun with the formation of "Confraternities," or Associations, of the Rosary. These were groups of persons who engaged in various good works and made as one of their regular practices the daily recitation of this prayer of the Rosary.

Later they built special chapels in which they could unite to pray, and this led eventually to churches of the Rosary. To-morrow at the Rosary Church, Kowloon, there will be High Mass in the morning at 9.30.

At 11.45 a.m. the Rosary will be recited in the church. Then in the afternoon at 4.30 there will take place the familiar procession which is attended every year by a very great number of people. This will be followed by sermon and Benediction in the church.

THE POOR MAN OF ASSISI

One of the best known Saints of the Church is St. Francis of Assisi, whose love of poverty is so much admired even by those who show the least inclination to imitate it. His simplicity and complete unworldliness are the things that have made the most impression on people, and he is honoured almost as much by those outside the Catholic Church as by those within it.

He lived at the beginning of the thirteenth century and enjoyed the life of a rich merchant's son for many years before he decided after an illness, to give up all earthly things and so give himself entirely to the service of God. Few men in history seem to have had so much personal power over those with whom they came in contact, and this same charm lingers in his memory.

In spite of the fact that he cut himself off from all possessions and from all practical affairs of life, he showed himself a man of great foresight and a very capable organiser. He left after him a Religious Order which has done great work from his day to ours.

There are more priests of the Order of St. Francis than of any other religious body in China, and their work is spread over a very wide field. They come from many different countries and they are to be found in seven provinces of China as well as in Manchuria.

HONOURING A MISSIONARY EXPLORER

The famous Jesuit missionary, Fr. Marquette, is known to history as the man who in the course of his work among the American Indians explored the Mississippi to its source and left most valuable maps and geographical data.

A big national monument in his honour was planned in the United States two years ago on the occasion of the third centenary of his birth and it is at present in the course of construction.

An ingenious method was recently devised by the promoters of the project in order to complete the necessary funds for the building. Appealing to the admiration for heroism that is in everybody they asked a great number of popular personages in the United States to give something personal which could be sold for the benefit of the fund.

The response came very readily. President Roosevelt had to keep to his general practice of not contributing to any privately "sanctioned" undertaking, but Mrs. Roosevelt did so in his stead, and so did Shirley Temple, Spencer Tracy, Bing Crosby and a host of other popular screen and sports favourites.

Joe Louis sent the boxing trunks which he wore in his championship fight. They were to be auctioned with many other unique gifts. The Post-Master General, Mr. James Farley, autographed a handkerchief. Ely Culbertson autographed

B.B.C. DIRECTOR

When Sir John Reith left the B. B. C. to take charge of Imperial Airways, there was a good deal of speculation as to his successor and, as the deputy-director was a Catholic, some people expressed the opinion publicly that a Catholic should not be appointed to the directorship.

When the Vice-Chancellor of the Belfast University, Dr. F. W. Ogilvie, was nominated to the position there were comments to the effect that now it was made quite clear that there would be no Catholic influence in the B. B. C. As these comments seemed to suggest that the new director would be a Catholic, a Catholic priest came forward publicly in his defence.

The priest was Fr. L. O'Hara S. J., director of the Catholic Workers' College in Oxford. He testified that when Dr. Ogilvie was a Fellow of Trinity he was one of the best friends of the Workers' College, and that later when he was Professor of Political Economy in Edinburgh, he lectured to the Edinburgh branch of the Catholic Social Guild in the Catholic Workers' College.

Those who have come in contact with Dr. Ogilvie believe that the wide cultural policy of the B. B. C. will be continued and wisely guided under his direction.

LESSON SERMON

First Church of Christ, Scientist, Hongkong

Subject—Unreality

The subject of the Lesson Sermon in all Christian Science Churches, to-morrow, October will be "Unreality."

The Golden Text will be "Let not him that is deceived trust in vanity: for vanity shall be his recompense" (Job 15:31).

Among others the following citations will be read from the Bible "The works of the Lord are great, sought out of all them that have pleasure therein. His work is honourable and glorious: and his righteousness endureth for ever. The works of his hands are verity and judgement; all his commandments are sure. They stand fast for ever and ever, and are done in truth and uprightness" (Ps. 111:2,3,7,8).

The following citations will also be read from the Christian Science Textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy. "The fading forms of matter, the mortal body and material earth, are the fleeting concepts of the human mind. They have their day before the permanent facts and their perfection in Spirit appear. The crude creations of mortal thought must finally give place to the glorious forms which we sometimes behold in the camera of divine Mind, when the mental picture is spiritual and eternal: Mortals must look beyond fading finite forms, if they would gain the true sense of things. When we realize that Life is Spirit, never in nor of matter, this understanding will expand into self-completeness, finding all in God, good, and needing no other consciousness." (pages 283,284)

MOSQUITO DAY IN LONDON

Famous Scientists Honoured

Many doctors have been knighted but few for such outstanding achievements as two were honoured in London recently. The occasion was Mosquito Day, observed at the London School of Hygiene and Tropical Medicine. The men were Sir Ronald Ross and Sir Patrick Manson.

A distinguished group of doctors and scientific men gathered to pay tribute to these pioneers in the control of malaria, a scourge still far too prevalent in the tropics.

It was contended at the meeting that Ross and Manson had revolutionised life in the warm parts of the Empire.

Ross discovered the relation between the mosquito and man in the transmission of malaria. He suggested the now obvious, but then revolutionary, theory that if all mosquitoes were destroyed, malaria would cease. Ever since, various attempts have been made to rid special sections of mosquitoes, but such a campaign is almost hopeless and malaria is still a scourge.

Sir Ronald soon realised that his discovery was epoch-making but that it did not mean the end of malaria. He knew also, that apart from all anti-mosquito work, malaria could be prevented by a daily dose of six grains of quinine, as recommended at present by the malaria Commission of the League of Nations. Ever since these preventive doses have been taken by millions of people in the tropics. And those that fail to take them, are ultimately cured by a dose of 15 to 20 grains of quinine continued for five to seven days.

HALTON STATION COMMAND

Air Commodore G. B. Dacre, D.S.O., has been appointed in command of the air station at Halton, in succession to Air Commodore G. R. M. Reid, D.S.O., M.C., who is to be Air Officer Commanding British Forces in Aden.

Halton has been expanded considerably during the two years that Air Commodore Reid has been in command.

In addition to the School of Technical Training, the largest of its kind in the world, where some 4,000 boys are under instruction, the units at the station include a cookery school, hospital, Institute of pathology and tropical medicine, medical training depot, and the headquarters of the R.A.F. service police.

YATESBURY WIRELESS SCHOOL

The new school which is being temporarily established at Yatesbury, near Calne, Wilts., will be known as No. 2 Electrical and Wireless School.

As there is already an elementary and reserve flying training school there (No. 10), care is ordered to be taken that all correspondence for the two units is clearly addressed.

Yatesbury, where about £300,000 is being spent, will have accommodation for 3,000 air apprentices, with a staff of 200 airmen and civilian instructors. A site for a permanent school is being found elsewhere, and the temporary school will then be moved.

GLAMOUR GIRL OF OLD CHICAGO

Beautiful Alice Faye, favourite of many a musical film, has the biggest role of her career as the glamorous Belle Fawcett in "In Old Chicago," which is showing at the King's Theatre to-day.

GERALDINE FARRAR WRITES AUTOBIOGRAPHY

ALICE FAYE A SUCCESS

For a long time Alice Faye wished she could get a chance to sing and dance in the movies. Then for a long time she wished she hadn't had the chance. Now, with her appearances in "In Old Chicago" she feels that she's achieved the happy medium; she dances and she sings, but her role is essentially dramatic.

As Belle Fawcett, she has the most powerful role of her career, and is ably supported by Tyrone Power and Don Ameche as well as a big cast of seasoned screen players.

The picture had its gala premiere at the King's Theatre last night and was voted a great success.

Opera-Singer Who Became Silent Screen Star

Geraldine Farrar must be the only opera-singer who became a silent screen star. (Hope Hampton was silent star who became prima donna). Possibly also only baseball manager's daughter to become both.

her sheer lack of sophistication, bubbling good humour, and warm human sentiment.

With Fred MacMurray, Donald O'Connor, Ellen Drew and Elizabeth Patterson heading the cast with Bing, it has is showing at the Queen's and Alhambra Theatres to-day.

The gay story, from the pen of Claude Binyon, concerns the frantic efforts of a small town California family to get a never-do-well son, played of course by Bing, to settle down and get a job so that his brother, MacMurray, who has been earning a living for them all, can marry the girl with whom he has been keeping company for several years.

Farrar was a Goldwyn star back in the end-of-war days. Also in 1915 starred as Joan of Arc, which is more than Garbo, Hepburn, Colbert or any of the other candidates have achieved yet.

Now she's written an autobiography from her farmyard retirement. Paramount are bidding for the rights. Might use Gladys Swarthout, who's vaguely enough the same type.

Might be a better idea, too, than their present one of finishing Swarthout's contract with a "B" picture costing only three times as much as the star's salary.

TUG-OF-WAR
Zorina has been the object of a studio tug-of-war. But ballerina Zorina, who acted and looked, as well as danced so nicely in Goldwyn Follies, is victim instead of victor.

Been starting with high success on Broadway in a dancing musical called "I Married an Angel." M-G-M snapped up the rights out of Sam Goldwyn's twitching fingers.

Goldwyn tried to buy rights and M-G-M tried to hire Zorina from Goldwyn but neither "would give in. So Zorina has to content herself with a new story being written to Goldwyn's orders.

Can't be too easy to vamp up a film about ballet-dancing. But Zorina makes it worth trying.

first wife she has acted on many occasions as his hostess. Miss Edwards studied at the Royal College of Art where she won a travelling scholarship.

MUNICH MEETING PRODUCES FOUR-POWER PACT

War Fears Subside As Czech Question Nears Settlement

Munich, September 30.
The conversations which took place here between Mr. Neville Chamberlain, M. Daladier, Signor Mussolini and Herr Hitler ended late last night in a complete agreement being reached, states an official joint communique, which adds that the terms and provisions of the agreement have been transmitted to the Czechoslovakian Government.

The joint Four-Power agreement contains the following points:—

1. Evacuation of uncontested Sudeten districts in Czechoslovakia to begin on October 1.
2. Britain, France and Italy agree that evacuation of the region be completed by October 10 without destruction of any existing installations, for which the Czech Government is to be responsible.
3. Conditions governing evacuation to be laid down by an international Commission composed of the German Under-Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, the British, French and Italian Ambassadors in Berlin and one Czechoslovak representative.
4. This International Commission to decide the localities where a plebiscite shall be held.

PLEBISCITE DETAILS

5. Territories in which the Commission decides that a plebiscite shall be held to be occupied by international bodies until the plebiscite is completed and the Saar plebiscite to be taken as the basis for conditions governing the present plebiscite, which is to be held before the end of November on a day to be fixed by the Commission.
6. The Commission to determine finally the new frontiers.
7. Britain and France to guarantee immediately the new status of Czechoslovakia; Italy and Germany likewise to give the same guarantee when the claims of Poland and Hungary are satisfied.
8. The right of option into and out of the transferred territories to be exercised within six months of the date of the Agreement, and a German-Slovak commission to determine the detail of the option and consider ways of facilitating the transfer of populations.
9. Within four weeks of the agreement, the Czech Government to release from military and police duty any Sudetens who wish to be released, and also to release any Sudeten imprisoned for political offences.

ANGLO-FRENCH STAND

The annex to the Agreement states that the British and French Governments have entered into the Agreement on the basis that they stand by the offer contained in their joint proposals of September 19 in relation to an international guarantee being provided that the new boundaries of Czechoslovakia shall be protected against unprovoked aggression.

A supplementary declaration states that all questions which may arise from the transfer of territories shall be considered as coming within the terms of reference of the International Commission.—Reuter.

FURTHER DETAILS

Munich, Sept. 30.
Amplification of the Munich Agreement shows provision for occupation by stages of predominantly German territory by German troops, to begin on October 1, the four territories marked in the attached map to be occupied in sequence.

The remaining territory of predominantly German character will be examined by the International Commission forthwith and occupied by German troops by October 10.

An annex to the agreement envisages another four-power meeting on the problem of the Polish and Hungarian minorities in Czechoslovakia if this is unsettled in three months by an agreement between the respective Governments.—Reuter.

Prague, Sept. 30.
The Czech Minister to Germany, M. Mastny, left Prague yesterday afternoon by special plane to act as official observer at the Munich conference.—Transocean.

HUNGARIAN HOPES

Budapest, Sept. 30.
The four-power conference at Munich was followed with breathless attention here, since it is believed that not only the Sudeten German problem but also the question of the Hungarian, Polish and Slovak minorities was discussed during the conference.

When the first reports announcing that agreement had been reached at Munich were received here, the first question asked was naturally what will become of the Hungarian minority.

Reports from Munich assert that in regions inhabited by the Hungarian minority, as well as in part of the Sudeten German region, a plebiscite will be held on November 25.

News of that Munich agreement has made a profound impression here and awakened hopes that the first step in revision of the territorial clauses of the Treaty of Trianon will now be made and that the Hungarian part of Slovakia will soon be restored to Hungary.—Transocean.

EVACUATION STARTS

Asch, Sept. 30.
Czech troops last night began the evacuation of Sudeten German territory. Transocean learns from a special correspondent.

U.S. DECLINES RESPONSIBILITY

Washington, Sept. 30.
Officials here indicate that the United States would refuse, if asked, to accept any responsibility arising from the Munich conference, such as arranging a transfer of territory or population. There is a noticeable lessening of tension, but State Department officials declared that the situation in Europe is still too delicate to relax any efforts to aid Americans to leave Europe.—Reuter.

ROME'S OPTIMISM

Rome, Sept. 30.
The "Giornale d'Italia" appeared on the streets last night with a special edition carrying enormous headlines declaring "Peace of Europe Assured!"

Commenting on the situation Signor Gayda, the famous editor, says: "The Munich agreement is the result of the intimate harmony created between Italy and Germany by the axis which is now more vital than ever before. It is also the result of the cordial nature of the relations between Britain and Italy."—Reuter.

SOVIET PROPOSED WORLD CONFERENCE

Moscow, Sept. 30.
Soviet Russia proposed an immediate international conference to deal with the German-Czech crisis. It was revealed today when the text of the communications between the United States and Soviet Governments were released.—Reuter.

LONDON'S NIGHT OF TENSION

London, Sept. 30.
London spent a night of tension, waiting for news from Munich.

While the work of digging trenches in St. James' Park, continued throughout the night and sandbags were piled round offices, including certain German offices, in Whitehall, the crowds massed eagerly in Downing Street, hoping to hear the best.

Shortly before 9.30 p.m. Mrs. Chamberlain left Downing Street for St. Michael Church in Chester Square, where special prayers for peace were said. She smiled happily and waved at the crowd.

About 10 p.m. the evening papers appeared on the streets with the news that a settlement had been reported and the crowds surged in Downing Street, until the Police drew a cordon at the Whitehall end of the Street.—Reuter.

CZECH CONCESSIONS

London, Sept. 30.
According to a communique issued here last night by the Czech Legation, the Czech Government agreed to further concessions which were submitted to the heads of the Four powers before their first meeting at Munich.

The Czech Government was prepared "to cede to Germany that territory containing over 50 per cent. German inhabitants, and asks for itself only such frontiers as will make the new Czech State capable of existence and defence."

"The Czech Government cannot agree, for military reasons, to a plebiscite in the areas containing a large Czech majority," declares the communique, "or in areas entirely Czech, as demanded in the German Memorandum."

"The Czech Government" agrees to a time limit for the final settlement.

"All these arrangements are to be carried out by December 15, but a settlement is possible by October 31."

SUPERVISION

"The Czech Government also agrees to supervision by an international commission and by the British Legion, or the occupation by British troops before the territory is actually handed over to the German forces."

"Prague is also agreeable to negotiations regarding demobilisation, the recall of its troops and the revision of its system of treaties, but in the interests of its own defence it demands that if there are Czech, German democratic minorities or Jewish populations in the Sudeten areas to be given to Germany, it need not evacuate that territory or demobilise or abandon the fortifications before there has been a delimitation of the new boundaries, an exchange of population guaranteed and a new system of guarantees initiated."

It was added as a final word in the communique that the Czech Government was anxious to expedite the negotiations for a settlement of the Sudeten areas and would do nothing to delay a final settlement.

GREAT SACRIFICES

"At this juncture," states the message, "the Czech Government is placing the interests of civilisation and world peace before the distress of her own people, and has resolved to make sacrifices which never in history have been exacted from an undefeated country."—Reuter.

MR. WILLIAM KAY NEW CHIEFTAIN

St. Andrew's Society Annual Meeting

BALL ON DECEMBER 2

Mr. William Kay, popular Headmaster of King's College, was elected Chieftain of St. Andrew's Society at the annual meeting held in the Board Room of the "South China Morning Post" yesterday evening. Mr. Kay presided and reported a satisfactory year.

Mr. K. S. Morrison was elected Vice-Chieftain, Messrs. E. M. Bryden and D. S. Robb, Hon. Treasurer and Secretary. The following were elected to the Committee: Messrs. B. Wylie, H. R. Forsyth, D. J. Gilmore, J. A. D. Morrison, J. F. MacGregor, H. H. Scott, Dr. J. W. Anderson and Professor R. K. M. Simpson.

The usual discussion on the date for holding St. Andrew's Ball took place. Mr. Kay pointed out that St. Andrew's Day (November 30) fell on a Wednesday this year, but they had to reckon with the usual "Friday-lies." The last Friday in November would be the 25th but that was definitely unsuitable in view of the Combined Manoeuvres. The next was December 2. Proposed by Mr. R. M. McLeay, the latter date was decided upon.

While the balloting for the Committee was going on, the Chairman invited members who had suggestions to make to speak.

PROPOSAL MADE

Mr. Neill Garland said that at the annual meeting of the Society two years ago he had put forward a proposal for modifying the arrangements for the Ball. In essence it involved holding a Scots supper before the Ball and elimination of the mid-ball supper. The then Committee had considered his proposal but had rejected it and up to now he did not know why it was not feasible. He had discovered in the last few months that this was the practise in Singapore.

Following discussion, in the course of which Mr. R. M. McLeay remarked that the arrangements as they stood now had been carried on from time immemorial and he

DEBUT AT THE GLOUCESTER

DANCING STARS, Loretta, Barbako and Gisela Astor of the German film "Faehrendes Volk" who will open a month's engagement at the Gloucester Hotel Dining Room, to-night. They have toured extensively for the past ten years.

The dancing stars of the recently released German picture "Faehrendes Volk" (Ufa & Company) will make their debut in the Far East, at the Gloucester Hotel Dining Room to-night.

The attractive, petite and blonde Loretta and the handsome Barbako will thrill and amuse the dinner guests with their classical and modern dances.

Gisela Astor, the third artiste, brings to the Orient for the first time the dances and style of Mary Weigmann, which she renders with a very artistic sense.

In the past ten years these three dancers have toured Central Europe, India, France and Egypt studying and investigating the various dances attached to these countries. Within the year their repertoire will be greatly enlarged and they will tour America and Europe.

Loretta and Barbako will introduce several new dance routines which they learned while in India in the past months, besides their modern and classical presentations.

The dinner reservations for the opening to-night of these artistes is quite a large list, with time extension to 2 a.m. Performances will be given three times nightly on four evenings a week.

saw no reason for any change, it was decided to leave it to the incoming Committee to decide the question.

The meeting concluded with a vote of thanks to the outgoing Committee and to Mr. B. Wylie, on behalf of his Board of Directors, for the loan of the room for the meeting.

OIL FOR BEAUTY— All The Problems Solved

THERE IS HARDLY ONE BEAUTY problem which the use of olive oil will not help to solve, so here are some of its many uses in the cause of beauty.

Some people find that the use of olive on the skin has a darkening tendency, but this can be counteracted by adding a little milk to the oil.

First there is the type of skin which is so delicate that even slight exposure to sun or wind causes it to peel. To remedy this condition place a small quantity of the oil in a saucer, dip the fingers into it, and then massage the oil well into the face. Remove the surplus with a clean face tissue, and then apply vanishing cream and make-up in the usual way. The slight amount of oil which has been absorbed by the skin helps to keep it soft, and smooth, and prevents any roughness.

SUPERFATTED SOAP

Scurfy skins can be treated in practically the same way, but instead of applying the merest trace of the oil, it is necessary to give the skin a good soaking and to allow the oil to remain on for about 10 minutes. Then wipe the surplus off with a soft cloth, afterwards washing the face with a superfatted soap and warm water.

Rough, Red Hands

Then there is the housewife's bugbear—rough, red hands. Each night before going to bed some olive oil should be well massaged into the skin, and a loose pair of gloves worn overnight. Make the oil very warm before applying and allow the hands to have a proper oil bath.

In the morning, after washing, massage a little cold cream well into the skin, so that they will acquire a certain amount of protection from the work of the day. One week of this treatment will make a great improvement in the condition of the hands.

Some hands are made ugly with fingers which have large, spreading knuckles. The joints are too large, and the skin is lined and coarse. Rub the joints every night with warm olive oil, and then bind loosely around each finger a pad of absorbent cotton wool which has been soaked in the oil, and allow it to remain on all night.

Elbows, Too

The elbows often need as much attention as the hands. If they are not as soft and white as beauty demands, bathe them three times a week in really warm olive oil, and spend a few minutes working it into the skin. If they are not as plump as they should be, massage them every night with warm olive oil. Vary this treatment with the use of glycerine and lemon juice every other night after a short course of the oil treatment, and very soon satisfactory results will be attained.

Eyebrows And Lashes

If the eyebrows are weak and scanty, they can be very much improved by being massaged with a little olive oil twice a day to darken them. This treatment is slow in yielding satisfactory results, but the few seconds given each day to their care is time well spent even if it has to be carried out for two or three months.

The eyelashes can also be given the oil treatment, but instead of massaging the oil should be applied with a child's camel-hair brush. Apply the oil every night before going to bed, and in time the eyelashes will become darker.

If only a temporary darkening of the brows and lashes is desired, it will be found that the application of a little oil before going out not only darkens them, but also gives them a beautifully glossy, and well-groomed appearance.

THE 'ATHENIAN' PATTERN

Hitler Night

Was Hitler Night greater in news value than Abdication Night?

Not in England, though it was certainly an important night. An "Evening Standard" writer says he printed 149,000 copies of a full special Hitler Speech Edition. At 10.15 p.m. fewer than 3000 remained in the publishing house.

On Abdication Night 240,000 extra copies of the "Evening Standard" were sold.

Did Hitler speak to the largest audience in the history of the world that night?

Again, no. Greater Germany heard him, and many of the Germans still outside what may become Greater Germany. Also a vast number of non-German-speaking listeners tuned in to the Nuremberg noises.

But I estimate that an English broadcaster attracted a wider public.

The broadcaster had that day become Duke of Windsor.

But his theme was even more interesting than Hitler's. It was Abdication. And if ever that should become Hitler's theme I have no doubt as to who would hold the record.

Lips that are savagely red and tempting. Ordinary lipstick does no more than make lips prettily red. But SAVAGE, with its savage, jungle colour gives lips a strange excitement; makes them irresistibly tempting; their carers eternally remembered. RESPITE

THE WORLD HEAVED A SIGH OF RELIEF with the news that another disastrous world war has been averted and that peace is to reign—temporarily at least.

The welcome news arrived in the Colony that, at 3.30 a.m. yesterday, an agreement had been reached and signed by the "Big Four"—Mr. Neville Chamberlain, Britain's Prime Minister; M. Edouard Daladier, Prime Minister of France; Signor Benito Mussolini, Italy's dictator; and Herr Adolf Hitler, the German Chancellor—over the troublesome waters, or rather the territory, in Czechoslovakia.

To Mr. Chamberlain, we must "hand the palm" for his indefatigable efforts, energy and courage, despite his advanced years, to arrive at a solution. That his name as a statesman and as a lover of peace will go down in history there is no doubt, and it is a remarkable coincidence that, already, in the Union of South Africa, there is a movement to erect to his memory a suitable honour—in this case, a monument. South Africa, it may be recalled, was the very country against which his father-made war nearly 40 years ago.

Mr. Chamberlain was severely criticised some days ago because of his alleged "great betrayal" of Czechoslovakia but, in his determination to maintain world peace, he has stuck to his guns and wisely paid no heed to adverse comment. Now that he has succeeded, even his most bitter critic will be forced to pay tribute to Britain's Prime Minister.

CZECHOSLOVAKIA HAS ALLOWED HERSELF TO BECOME THE SCAPEGOAT of this political-diplomatic juggling in order, as she herself put it, "At this critical juncture, the Czechoslovakian Government places the interests of civilization and world peace before the distress of her own people and she is resolved to make sacrifices which, never before in history, have been exacted from an undefeated state with such concentrated effort. She therefore is entitled to demand that the other side should also do something for the peace of Europe and the world."

This appealing statement cannot but arouse pity in the hearts

SUMMARY COURT CLAIM

Defendant Fined For Perjury

DENIED PROMISE TO PAY BILL

Because he had given false evidence in the witness box, and by so doing committed perjury, Woo Pak-sau, 31, member of a wealthy Chinese family, was fined $100, in default six months' imprisonment when he appeared before the Acting Police Judge, Mr. Justice E. H. Williams at the Summary Court yesterday.

Defendant appeared in connection with a claim against him for $147 by Messrs. Mackintosh Ltd., who had sold and delivered goods to that amount.

Before the defendant gave evidence on oath, his Lordship warned Woo of the danger of committing perjury.

Mr. J. T. Prior appeared for the plaintiffs and defendant was represented by Mr. M. A. da Silva.

Mr. Prior said that the claim was the result of a debt incurred in 1934 and which had never been paid. On May 7 last, defendant went to Mackintosh's with some material and asked Mr. J. F. Hickman, an assistant cutter, to have it made up into a suit. After defendant had left, a book-keeper employed in the shop recognised him and had also remembered that he had not yet paid his debt. The book-keeper informed Mr. J. G. Meyer, Manager of the firm.

Defendant returned to Mackintosh's for fitting on May 15 and Mr. Meyer presented him with the bill for $147. Defendant appeared to be embarrassed, and said that he would settle the bill at the end of the month. Mr. Meyer said, "I don't think that gives you enough time. I would not expect payment then but at the end of the following month."

Corroborative evidence was given by Lal Kee-kong, book-keeper, Mr. Meyer and Mr. Hickman.

Defendant, in the witness box, said that he had never been in Messrs. Mackintosh Ltd., in May this year. He had not given any promise to Mr. Meyer that he would pay the bill.

Defendant, cross-examined, admitted that he was indebted to Messrs. Mackintosh to the amount of $147 and that the bill had not been paid.

His Lordship gave judgment for the plaintiffs with costs and said that he was fully satisfied that defendant made the promise and thus took the claim outside the statutory limitations of three years. Further, continued his Lordship, he was satisfied that defendant had wilfully given false evidence, and imposed the fine mentioned above.

of all the world and it is hoped that it will not pass unheeded for Czechoslovakia has every right to lodge such a demand in view of the fact that she is being sliced like a melon.

It is premature to believe that all is yet over, in spite of the accord reached, for there is a significant clause which provides that "Britain and France will immediately guarantee the new status of Czechoslovakia. Italy and Germany likewise will guarantee the new status when the claims of Poland and Hungary are satisfied." Is this a suggestion that there will be more "cutting the melon"? This journal has no wish to throw gloom on the situation but facts must be faced: there must be no more secret diplomacy if the world is to have peace—lasting peace. With the guarantee of Britain and France, it is only fair and right that the Czechs should not be compelled to make any further sacrifices and it would be difficult for anybody to visualise her doing so.

Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's words at the outset of the Sino-Japanese war come to our minds in this connection. "There is a limit to endurance." This relates to Czechoslovakia and other smaller nations much as it does to China.

"IN OLD CHICAGO"

THE CAST

Dion O'Leary Tyrone Power
Belle Fawcett Alice Faye
Jack O'Leary Don Ameche
Molly O'Leary Alice Brady
Pickle Bixby Andy Devine
Gil Warren Brian Donlevy
Ann Colby Phyllis Brooks
Gen. Phil Sheridan Sidney Blackmer and others

Seldom have cinema-goers been treated to such a fine show as "In Old Chicago," which opened last night at the King's Theatre. Seldom have audiences witnessed such scenes as those enacted.

Boisterous, raucous, turbulent Chicago, a raw, bold boom town of easy money and easy ways. The hub in its infamous "Patch" had to be cleaned up... or wiped out.

One cannot but be touched by the tempestuous love of Dion O'Leary—Chicago's political boss, and the glamorous Belle Fawcett, its cabaret queen. We see the O'Leary brothers, who fought each other when fortune smiled fighting shoulder to shoulder when disaster threatens.

We see terror-stricken multitudes fleeing for their lives through roading, leaping avenues of fire; the fearful stampede as ten thousand fire-maddened steers trample through the hell-canyons of the burning city; a tornado-fanned wall of flame five hundred feet high and seven miles in length driving the helpless populace into Lake Michigan. We see the invincible O'Learys facing the flaming ruins with spirit undaunted, the spirit that resulted in the rebuilding of old Chicago.

The world not only loves a lover but it also loves a good fight; be it person against person or between man and elements, so long as the element of violence is pronounced and dramatic. We have all of this in "In Old Chicago."

The music throughout is excellent and the picture has everything to recommend it.—W. H. C.

THE CRISIS IN EUROPE.

Interesting Talk By Mr. Percy Chen

EFFECT ON CHINA

An interesting talk on the European crisis and its effect on China was given by Mr. Percy Chen, at the Chinese Y.M.C.A. last night.

Mr. Chen said:—

As long ago as March or April the question of Czechoslovakia took a prominent place in the agenda before the Chancelleries of the leading Powers of the world. Two plans were then discussed behind the scenes. One was for the system of granting a measure of autonomy to the minorities within the Czech state—and known as the "Cantonization scheme." The other was known as the scheme to "Belgianize Czechoslovakia."

This scheme in which the military strategic aspect took the dominant part included the cancellation of two military pacts upon which the Czechs relied for the security of their frontiers and their continued existence as a nation—namely the Treaty of Alliance with France and the Mutual Assistance Pact between Soviet Russia and Czechoslovakia.

The "Belgianization" scheme at that time aimed at the substitution of these defence treaties by a declaration of neutrality by Czechoslovakia which would be guaranteed by the major powers of Europe. Discussions were reported to have taken place back and forth between the major Powers, and the subject of a Four-Power Conference was broached and received much support.

BRINK OF WAR

Subsequent events between May and August, during which Europe was brought to the brink of war, have resulted in the temporary settlement of the Czechoslovakian problem along lines of its "Belgianization," though by the terms of the new peace plan Czechoslovakia ceases to be an entity of any significance in Europe. And a new situation has arisen in that Continent both from the political and military strategic points of view.

It is safe to predict that the Four-Power Conference will not be confined to the discussion of the Czechoslovakian problem alone. The fate of that democracy has been sealed so far as the four negotiating Powers are concerned. It is only the funeral that is being arranged. An attempt will be made by Great Britain and France to reach an understanding with Germany and Italy in which the peace of Europe will be safeguarded.

But it is to be feared that the terms of the peace will be those proposed by the Fascist Powers. One of these terms may well include a victory for France in Spain. Whether agreed to or not, the influence of the Fascist Powers will increase in South Eastern Europe and the Near East. These will be the political results of Germany's "conquest by consent" in Central Europe—namely in Austria and in Czechoslovakia.

FAR-REACHING RESULTS

From the military-strategic point of view the results will be even more far-reaching. There was no denying that Czechoslovakia and her army was a powerful weapon on the side of the democratic Powers. Of the smaller countries of Europe it was the strongest. And its removal as a factor in the military situation in Europe clears a path for Germany towards Constantinople, the Near East and India.

It is almost safe also to say that the juncture of the Polish and Hungarian frontiers in the not distant future will annul the Franco-Soviet Mutual Assistance Pact de facto if not de jure.

In journalistic language this is known as "a think piece" but there are ample facts as evidence that the events will turn out along these lines.

Students of International affairs will recognise that as a result of these happenings in Europe in which the Fascist Powers gain the ascendancy the liberal and democratic elements of all European countries will become more solidly welded against the fasciation of their individual countries.

INDIVISIBLE WHOLE

In China we are fortunate that "Nation? We are 450 million people. Japanese aggression 'has already' and we must march as one man. It is for our leaders to lead us to welded our people into one indivisible whole, for the onslaught of Japan will be increased twofold as a result of the events which have taken place in Europe. Here the vigour of our brains. The effect of the liberal and democratic elements in China will gather closer and closer together, for it is their Destiny lies in their own hands.

FORMER CHINESE ENVOY TELLS OF REFUGEE WORK

'Offer Gold' Campaign Results

Mr. Hsu Hai-ying, formerly Premier of China, and latterly Chinese Ambassador to Japan, was the guest speaker at a meeting held at the Chinese Chamber of Commerce yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Hsu, who returned from Japan at the beginning of the year, is now the Chairman of the Central Relief Association in Hankow. In his address yesterday, Mr. Hsu spoke of the pitiful condition of the refugees in the war-torn areas in China and the Association's efforts to aid them.

The Association's plans, he said, were not only made to give these unfortunate people food and shelter, but to make it possible for the refugees to be self-supporting by furnishing material help to trade and to encourage handicraft, and educate the children.

HANKOW MOVEMENTS
The speaker also referred to the movements, which have been launched in Hankow by Government circles and military bodies, to appeal for donations of winter clothes for refugees.

The aim was to collect 4,000,000 cotton-padded coats and 5,000,000 pieces of old winter wear.

This campaign had commenced on September 11, in various parts of China and the first term will end on "Double Ten." During this period the Association hoped to collect half the amount provided in their scheme.

CHINESE FORCES RECAPTURE MENGHSIEN

Japanese Stronghold On North Bank Of Yellow River

Four Transports Damaged

Loyang, September 30.

Removing the threat of a Japanese crossing to the south bank of the Yellow River to cut the Langhai Railway, Chinese forces recovered Menghsien, enemy stronghold on the north bank of the river in northern Honan, yesterday.

Chungyichen and Kutanchen, north of Menghsien, were also recaptured by the Chinese.

The Japanese troops in Menghsien, which have been besieged by the Chinese in the past few days, yesterday forced their way out of the Chinese cordon and fled northward to Tsinyang. The Chinese entered the town immediately after the Japanese retreat.

The withdrawing invaders were intercepted by the Chinese at Chungyichen and Kutanchen, north of Menghsien. In the ensuing battle, 400 Japanese were killed.

A desperate battle was raging yesterday at Tsiyuan, northwest of Menghsien. It is learned that the allied city of Tsiyuan and Fengmenkow, to the west, were both encircled by the Chinese.

Meanwhile, Chinese forces are counter-attacking Wuchih, east of Wenhsien in northern Honan. Several bayonet charges were made by the Chinese, inflicting heavy casualties on the Japanese. The Chinese also suffered considerable losses.

Japanese guns in villages near the Peiping-Hankow Railway on the north bank of the Yellow River in Honan shelled Chinese positions river above Anking, early yesterday Central News.

CLAIM FOR RETURN OF CHEQUE

Money Won In Lottery

A claim for the possession of a cheque, amounting to $33.57, was heard before the Acting Police Judge, Mr. Justice E. H. Williams, at the Summary Court yesterday, when Wan Ng, woman, residing at No. 83 Parkes Street, being the plaintiff, Defendant, Chan Kwai-sing, did not appear in Court. Mr. C. A. Sutherland Russ represented plaintiff.

Mr. Russ said that the plaintiff and some others had won a prize in a lottery. In consequence of that Ng Shing received a cheque made out in his name, and handed it to the defendant to dispose of to the successful prize-winner. Defendant and some other women, allegedly four in all, asked the plaintiff to let them see the cheque, and when plaintiff complied with the request, defendant snatched it and ran away with the others.

Plaintiff, as a result, was unable to get it back and Mr. Russ applied for the return of the cheque remarking that whether the money won was in the eyes of the defendant, legal or otherwise, it was not up to her to decide.

His Lordship gave judgment for the plaintiff with costs, and made an order for the return of the cheque.

OPIUM FOUND ON SHIP

Ho Wing, 26-year-old native of Shanghai, who claims to have been formerly a drug-store employee, was convicted at the Kowloon Court yesterday of possession of 1,440 taels of raw opium and of doing an act preparatory to export of this opium from the Colony, on September 1, by the s.s. Marchal Joffre.

The opium was found on board the ship in the baggage of the defendant.

Mr. K. M. A. Barnett passed sentence on Ho of twelve months hard labour.

Mr. H. L. Kwan appeared for the defence.

3,000 JAPANESE CASUALTIES

Launched a heavy counter-attack, Chinese troops this morning reached the north-west outskirts of Shanghai in south-east Honan. The Japanese 13th and 16th divisions are making an attempt to hold up the Chinese advance and suffered 8,000 casualties in a three-day siege.

The "royal column" at Loshan north of Shanghai under the command of Prince Haruhiko retreated within the city gates and are expected to be dislodged momentarily.—International.

More Japanese Officials Abandon Posts

Count Hiroshi Saito, former Ambassador to the United States, Count Hachiro Arita, former Foreign Minister, who were both recently appointed Diplomatic Advisers to the Government, and Mr. Tadaro Matsumoto, Deputy Foreign Minister, have also resigned.

Rumours persisted last night that Mr. Seihin Ikeda, Minister of Finance also tendered his resignation, but this was subsequently denied.—Transocean.

KONOYE SEES MIKADO

The Premier, Prince Konoye, went to the Palace this morning and conveyed the resignation of the Foreign Minister, General Ugaki. He also reported his own concurrent assumption of the portfolios of Foreign and Overseas Affairs.

The regular session of the Cabinet, scheduled for this morning, was postponed until the afternoon.

OTHER MINISTER STAY

Official circles assert that General Ugaki's resignation is not the result of any change in Japanese foreign policy, and the main question arising out of the resignation was whether the entire Cabinet might follow suit.

It is now learned that General Itagaki, Minister of War, Admiral

HANDED $3,057 BY MISTAKE

Mr. E. L. Traverser, of the Hongkong and Shanghai Banking Corporation, made a report to the police on Thursday that a woman, who presented a cheque for $202.50, was given the sum of $3,057 by mistake.

The woman, named Chung Ying, was closing her account.

FR. JACQUINOT

"Before I left, I was approached by one of the Chinese Municipal Councillors, Mr. Yu Ya-ching, and a few other Chinese gentlemen with the view of forming a Committee to look after the interests of their poor, distressed countrymen.

"The result is that the Central Association for Shanghai Refugees has come into being. This Association is supported financially by all the local guilds, and it will work hand in hand with the various other bodies already existing to combat this refugee question until it has been liquidated."

It is to report to the Chinese authorities upon what has been, and is being done, in Shanghai for the refugees and to discuss measures to establish a centre in Hankow that Father Jacquinot is proceeding to Hankow.

Father Jacquinot, however, emphatically denied that he had been summoned hurriedly by the Hankow authorities.

He stated that it must not be construed that his trip has any relation to the general trend of hostilities along the Yangtze Front, nor is he at present aware that there is any urgency in the situation at Hankow.

TO MAKE REPORT

"I am going to Hankow merely to make a report," he said, "and to keep in touch in regard to rehabilitation work. Of course the opportunity will be taken to discuss the idea of a similar safety zone there should it be necessary in the future, but no one knows the outcome of the fighting along the Yangtze."

"Just now the situation in Shanghai seems to be easing a little," he continued, "which has made it possible for me to go to Hankow as I had long planned."

Discussing the situation in Shanghai again, Father Jacquinot stated that there are still about 80,000 refugees in the International Settlement and the French Concession, in addition to the number still cared for in the Nantao zone.

"In this what may be called a transitional period," he said, "we are trying to find employment for these people. In Nantao, work is just starting again and shops are beginning to reopen. There are few troops around now, and things are what might even be called peaceful, considering what conditions were some months back."

Things should improve bit by bit, provided there is no scare."

ALARM EXPRESSED

Asked if the information that the Japanese hold on Shanghai regions is not as tight as before, was correct, Father Jacquinot did not answer directly but expressed his alarm that should any surprise attack by guerrillas take place in the vicinity of Shanghai it would not make it easy for his collaborators and himself to carry on their relief work.

I placed before Father Jacquinot certain newspaper reports of the heavy losses that the Japanese are said to be suffering at the front, and asked him if, to make up for these losses the Japanese had withdrawn troops substantially from the Shanghai area.

Again, however, Father Jacquinot did not answer my question. He said that the losses were probably suffered more on account of epidemics of cholera, malaria and dysentery rather than due to actual losses on the battlefield.

Cheerful, bright-eyed and vigorous despite his age, this French Jesuit priest, who discussed his work without dwelling on the personal side but always stressed the need of the suffering and the necessity of looking to the future, struck me as a shining example of Christ-like devotion to duty and to humanity, which befits him as a servant of the Church.

Father Jacquinot leaves for Canton this morning by the s.s. Fat-shan. He will spend a few days in that city inspecting the damage caused by the bombings, and will also take the opportunity of renewing his friendship with Governor Wu Te-chen—a very fine man he is!—says the Father—before departing for Hankow. He expects to return in about a week or ten days.

WORLD-FAMOUS EVANGELIST COMING

Travelled Through Many Lands

Mr. Edwin Orr, the well-known revivalist, is expected in the Colony on October 12, and will conduct meetings here.

Mr. Orr has had a remarkable career. A young Irishman from Belfast, he felt called of God to a ministry of Revival. This was about five years ago. He left Ireland with a bicycle and half a crown, and in the months that followed he travelled 10,000 miles through Britain.

"The story of this journey, 'Can God—10,000 Miles of Miracle in Britain' had an amazing sale, and was one of the most popular books of the year."

REMARKABLE TRAVELS

Since then Mr. Orr has continued his "miracle" journeys in Europe (penetrating even to Moscow), in Canada and the United States, Australia, New Zealand and South Africa, in all over 100,000 miles round the world. Over 50 countries have been visited and large crowds have gathered to hear him wherever he has spoken.

His books, telling the story of his remarkable travels, have under the Manchus. For a long time, he was private secretary to General (later President) Yuan Shih-kai when the latter was Chinese Imperial Resident in Korea. That was in 1883. Seventeen years later, he assisted General Yuan in suppressing the Boxer disturbances in Shantung Province and, in 1904, he was sent to Tibet as Special Envoy of the Imperial Government. The following year saw him Junior Vice-President of the Board of Foreign Affairs and, a few months later, Director-General of the Shanghai-Nanking and Lu-Hai Railways.

In 1907, Mr. Tong was appointed Senior Vice-President of the Board of Communications and about the end of that year, was made Governor of Fengtien. As special envoy, he went to Washington, D. C., in 1908, to convey the thanks of the Chinese Government to the United States for waiving part of the Boxer Indemnity to China. In 1911, he was appointed President of the Board of Communications.

PEACE DELEGATE

Following the outbreak of the revolution, he was sent to Nanking as delegate of the Imperial Government to negotiate with the revolutionary leaders for peace. That conference led to the abdication of the Boy Emperor Hsuan Tung (now Emperor Kang Tei) of Manchukuo and the establishment of the Republic of China.

When Dr. Sun Yat-sen gave up the Provisional Presidency, and President Yuan Shih-kai became President, Mr. Tong was appointed first Prime Minister and High Adviser to the President.

Three years later, he denounced Yuan Shih-kai when the latter attempted to betray the Republic and have himself crowned Emperor. Following Yuan's downfall, he was appointed Minister of Foreign Affairs but, for health reasons, declined to take up office.

OUTLAWED

From 1918 to 1920, Mr. Tong was outlawed by the Peking Government, because he joined Dr. Sun Yat-sen's Military Government in Canton, and later became one of the seven High Administrative Directors elected by the Southern Parliament. In 1919, he served as

NO NEW TRENCHES TO BE DUG IN LONDON

London, Sept. 30. In connection with the completion of precautionary measures in London, it is announced that all trenches at present being dug should be completed and protected from the weather. No new trenches will be dug.

Warnings have been posted asking the people to take good care of respirators which have been issued to them. It is also hoped that boxes will be issued shortly for storing the respirators.

Thirty thousand men have been employed day and night digging the trenches. The work had been assigned to a number of contractors who are doing the work at cost with no profits for themselves.—Reuter Bulletin.

C.N.A.C. MEMORIAL SERVICE

Shanghai, Sept. 30. A memorial service to the late Mr. and Mrs. Sydney H. Y. Yang, who met their death when the C.N.A.C. plane in which they were en route to Chungking from Hongkong was machine-gunned by Japanese planes, on August 24, was held at the Chinese Y.M.C.A. today.

The Young Brothers Banking Corporation is raising a memorial fund.—Reuter.

chief Southern delegate to the internal peace conference, the Anti Government's (Peking) chief delegate being General Wang Yitang.

In 1921, Mr. Tong was appointed Minister of Finance in the Canton Military Government. In order to win him over to the Peking side, the North-erners appointed the veteran statesman Prime Minister and Minister of Foreign Affairs but he declined both offices.

Later, he became High Adviser to the National Government at Nanking.

DISTRICT MAGISTRATE

In order to devote himself to his home district and to set an example to other high officials in the hope that they, too, would spend their years of retirement in trying to improve local administration in their home districts, Mr. Tong accepted the post of District Magistrate of the Model Chungshan District in 1929 and served until 1934, when he went to Nanking to take up duties as High Adviser to the National Government and as a member of the Central Supervisory and Central Executive Committees of the Kuomintang and a member of the Southwest Political Council.

During the past two years, he has lived in retirement in Shanghai, though strenuous efforts have been made by the puppet "Reformed Government" in Nanking to persuade him to become Prime Minister.

In a statement issued to the Shanghai press, Mr. Tong admitted that he had been approached on the subject but denied that he had any intention of becoming a Japanese slave.—Reuter and

MACAO OCTOBER RACE MEETING

Interesting Programme Of Handicap Events

(BY "LAST QUARTER")

FOLLOWERS OF THE SPORT of Kings will have another opportunity of enjoying a week-end in the Portuguese Colony when the October meeting of the Macao Jockey Club takes place on the Arca Preta course to-morrow afternoon. As on former occasions, the s.s. "Kinsan" will leave Hongkong at 9.30 a.m., returning from Macao on Monday at 3 a.m.

The opening event, over one mile, should be well contested as there are several ponies with a definite chance of carrying off the honours. Shanghai 4 should strip in much better condition and I believe Fairy Auk, who is rather heavily weighted, must be at his best to account for the Macao champion. Opposition may also be expected from Rotheray Bay, as this pony ran a good race at the last meeting and should be near top condition now.

LOKCHANG HANDICAP

I cannot visualize any of the entrants as good stayers and this 1-1/4 mile race will probably be run in very slow time. Iron Knight appears to have the best stamina and should be right in it at the end, with the main opposition coming from Double Up. For the remaining place, there is hardly anything worth choosing from, but my nomination rests between Macao Star and Daddy Longlegs.

NANCHANG HANDICAP (SECOND SECTION)

This race appears to be a very even affair, although it would seem that Gold Clause has the edge here. Hopefulleg is certain to run the eventual winner very close, and might even annex the

CLUB TALK

By F. Mela

DORIS HUNT, the well-known local lady swimming champion, won the Ladies' Harbour Race on Thursday for the fourth time in her career—and also the last time, for she is giving up long distance swimming.

A good record she has, and it is a pity she will do no more cross-harbour swimming. She completed her sixteenth year of participation in this annual swimming marathon, having first taken part in it when only eight years old.

I remember that day well when Doris, with her sister Phyllis both won the admiration of the large crowd that turned out to watch the race, by completing the distance.

Doris has won the race four times and Phyllis three—a proud record, indeed for the Hunt family.

TALKING ABOUT RETIREMENTS.

THE winner of the men's race on Thursday, Lionel Roza-Perelra, also spoke about giving up harbour racing. Too much time taken up by training, he says—besides one gets too old for this sort of thing.

Lionel has been harbour swimming eight years—won it several times—is easily the most popular member of the V.R.C.—and is the Colony diving champion in the bargain.

THE V.R.C. IS BY FAR and away

the most popular swimming club in the Colony. Soon swimming will be over and rowing will come into its own again. I hear A. V. Gosano and B. I. Bickford, Colony football stars, intend to do a lot of rowing this winter. Good way to keep fit, but what about their football?

A WORD OF PRAISE for A. K.

("Smally") Rumjahn for coming in second in the Harbour Race. He used the back stroke throughout and was given an excellent reception when he touched the Praya Wall. Few expected "Smally" to finish, much less place, and the fact that he did so well speaks volumes for his pluck and determination.

ARMY CRICKET TEAMS

The Army will be meeting the Indian Recreation Club at cricket this afternoon, the teams being:—1st XI on Army ground.—Capt. Godby (captain), Major Murray, Lt. Weedon, Lt. Chiverall, Pte. Hatfield, Sgt. Paterson, Cpl. Webb, Pte. Coombes, Sgt. Gill, Sgt. Baker, and Sapper Ratcliffe.

2nd XI on I.R.C. ground.—Lt. Peal (captain), Lt.-Col. Newnam, C.Q.M.S. Paterson, Bmbdr. Hebdon, Sig. Smith, Sig. Murphy, Sig. Dixon, Sgt. Painter, Epl. Vuagniaux, Cpl. Humphries, and C.M.S.M. Northcott.

CRICKET TRIAL OFF

To-day's Interport cricket trial has been called off in view of the cancellation of the Interport.

YESTERDAY'S OFFICIAL QUOTATIONS

During most of the week the market was overshadowed by the critical state of affairs in Europe, but the news received in the Colony early this morning that the four Great Powers had arrived at a solution of the crisis gave great stimulus to the opening quotations. Buyers displayed eagerness to obtain shares, though their ideas of prices did not at first tempt many sellers. As the day wore on enquirers raised their bids, resulting in a fair turnover at advancing rates. The closing tone, firm with an upward tendency.

NEW DRUG LAW APPLIED

Two Chinese Convicted

By virtue of the amended ordinance relating to the suppression of the drug menace in the Colony, which was applied for the first time, two persons charged before Mr. Edwards at Central Court yesterday were convicted. The law formerly did not extend to possession of heroin pipes. Chu Tong was fined $150 or two months' imprisonment and $60 or six weeks' imprisonment on charges of possession of 69 heroin pills and six heroin pipes at No. 4 Garden Lane. Sentences are to run concurrently.

Defendant was further sentenced to four months' without the option of a fine, on a third charge of keeping a divan. Appearing on similar charges, Kwai Kam-chang was fined $200 or two months and $40 or one month's imprisonment concurrently. A consecutive term of six months' imprisonment was imposed on the charge of keeping a divan.

DARING DAYLIGHT ROBBERY

A daring daylight robbery was perpetrated yesterday afternoon when a refugee from Swatow, proprietress of the Swatow Embroidery Co., of 14 On Lan Street, was relieved of $400 in Chinese currency. It appeared that she had just changed Hongkong money into Chinese currency and was returning to her shop when four men attacked her two of whom held her down.

The audacity of the crime and the speed in which everything happened took the bystanders completely by surprise, the men making good their escape into Queen's Road.

Mrs. V. C. Clarke, of 3 Robinson Road, was the victim of a bag-snatcher on Thursday. While walking along Robinson Road, an unknown Chinese snatched her handbag which contained money and property to the value of $20.50. After a report of the incident had been made to the Central Police Station, a Sanitary canteen appeared with the empty handbag, apparently having picked it up after the snatcher had thrown it away.
